Estate Planning and the drafting of your Last Will and Testament are thoughtful and necessary for the benefit of you, your family and the preservation and distribution of your assets. Kindly note the worksheets available that will assist you in organizing your thoughts and wishes as well as your assets and obligations. Please feel free to print the worksheets provided and make notes relative to questions you may have which will help make your initial consultation more productive. I recommend the drafting of these important documents be accomplished by an attorney to help insure accuracy and that they are reflective of your wishes and directives.

ESTATE PLANNING WORKSHEET

Information provided is held in complete confidence, and is used for the sole purpose of analyzing estate planning needs and designing estate planning documents. Preparation of this worksheet is not mandatory prior to the initial appointment with us, but if we are able to review the completed worksheet prior to or at your first appointment, more can be accomplished during the appointment.

The information requested on this worksheet may seem like none of an attorney's business, but it is very important that an estate planning attorney understands your present situation and your wishes for the future. This information enables us to plan the estate to accomplish future goals and to take steps to save on taxes and administrative expenses.

If you are married and all information on this worksheet is identical for you and your spouse, fill out one worksheet only. If information for each spouse differs, please download multiple copies of this worksheet so each spouse has one to fill out.

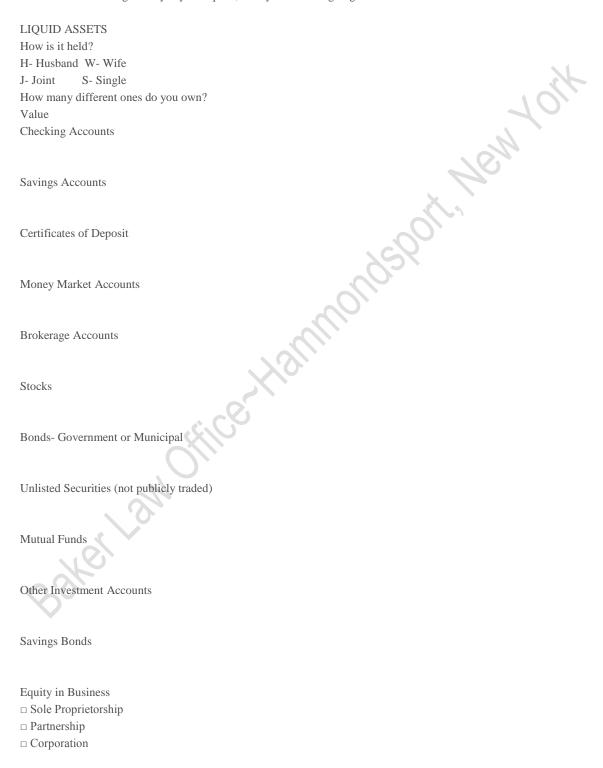

For those of you who are single, please note that phrasing everything based on husband and wife is for the simplicity of the form only. Estate planning is very important for singles as well as couples. Plans of distribution for singles is not obvious and most or all assets will be probated unless held in joint tenancy.

Successor Trustee. If you choose to avoid probate of your estate by executing a living trust during lifetime, a successor trustee should be named. The successor trustee would be responsible for managing assets if you, or in the case of a joint trust, either you or your spouse, could not manage assets due to incompetency. The successor trustee would distribute assets to beneficiaries after death, or in a joint trust, when neither you nor your spouse survive. Successor Trustee: Alternate:

Testamentary Trustee. You may need a trustee to manage assets for children until they reach an age when you believe they should be capable of managing property on their own. A trustee can keep the children's money invested wisely and use it for their education, support, etc., until they reach the age specified for outright distribution of assets to them. The trustee can be a relative, friend, trust company or other person you trust to manage and distribute assets according to your wishes. The testamentary trustee can be the same person named as the guardian, or could be a different person. Testamentary Trustee: Alternate: Age of Distribution. If you do establish a trust to allow a third party to manage assets for beneficiaries, then it is necessary for you to decide when the beneficiaries will be mature enough to manage assets on their own.
